DETAILED RISK ANALYSIS

Given the information provided, let's break down the risk assessment for InvoZone in relation to P&G; brand safety compliance:

### 1. SEVERITY: Medium

The negative indicators mentioned do not directly involve InvoZone but highlight a broader context of legal and regulatory challenges within the business environment, including lawsuits and SEC violations related to other companies. The severity is assessed as "Medium" because, while these issues do not directly implicate InvoZone, they reflect potential risks in the business ecosystem that could indirectly affect InvoZone's operations or reputation.

### 2. RECENCY: Current (last 12 months)

The legal and enforcement actions mentioned, including the SEC's enforcement results for fiscal year 2024, indicate that these issues are current and relevant within the last 12 months. This recency suggests an ongoing risk environment that requires continuous monitoring.

### 3. CREDIBILITY: High

The sources cited, including Forbes, GuruFocus, Stock Titan, and official SEC announcements, are credible and verified. These sources are known for their reliability in reporting legal and business news, which lends credibility to the information provided about the broader legal and regulatory challenges in the market.

### 4. PATTERN: Isolated Incidents

The information provided does not indicate a pattern of misconduct directly related to InvoZone. Instead, it highlights isolated incidents and enforcement actions involving other companies and the broader regulatory environment. Without specific evidence of repeated or systemic issues directly involving InvoZone, it's reasonable to consider these as isolated incidents within the context of InvoZone's risk assessment.

### 5. IMPACT: Potential PR "Black Eye" for P&G;

While the direct impact on P&G; is likely to be limited given the lack of direct involvement of InvoZone in the negative indicators mentioned, there is a potential risk for a PR "black eye" due to the association with a business environment facing legal and regulatory challenges. The degree of impact would depend on the nature of P&G;'s relationship with InvoZone and the extent to which P&G;'s brand is perceived as being associated with these broader issues.

### Conclusion:

The risk assessment indicates a medium level of severity due to the recency and credibility of the issues within the broader business environment, although these are isolated incidents not directly involving InvoZone. The potential impact on P&G;'s reputation requires careful management, particularly in terms of due diligence, ongoing monitoring, and possibly reevaluating the nature of any partnership with InvoZone to mitigate associated risks.
